DAVID RYAN — an educator and a professional in his field, yet one who takes pleasure in laughing with his students. Along with his “phrase for the day” he has instituted other traditions important to him and to those who know him. He is a master in the art of teaching and has the willingness to learn from his students.

We want to dedicate our yearbook to him because of what he taught us about living, an art that will remain with us long after we have acquired the wisdom to pass that knowledge on.

THE EDUCATION

1973 — A time to reflect upon these school years as great ones of association with the people and experiences that made them so.

In September of 1969 we embarked on this often discouraging but always enlightening journey. We came running from five directions with anxieties and expectations of the place, its people and the year.

Giggly, scrawny girls huddled in the corners of the Dungeon comparing summer tans and back-to-school outfits while shy boys reddened at the mere thought of the girls. One question was spinning its way through all of our minds:

"Where do I buy the elevator tickets?"

With puzzled expressions on our faces and schedules clutched in our sweaty hands, we wondered how everyone knew we were freshmen.

We have come a long way from Friday night school dances, being seen-but-not-heard and J.V. sports. While Ralph Nader's consumer crusade battled pollution and the auto industry, we battled for and won a relaxed dress-code and study hall.

We rewrote school rules while Hollywood rewrote the alphabet — G, GP, R, and X. A young heroine sobbed "Love means never having to say you're sorry," while a certain seagull sang "You too can fly!"

Dramatic talent in our class boomed with the successes of Oliver, Annie Get Your Gun, Flower Drum Song, The Crucible, and The Boyfriend.

The choruses and dancers backed talented actors in the musical productions while the leads of The Crucible capably portrayed the tragic tone of the drama.

Along with other senior privileges, we were able to select courses from a broadened curriculum — anything from Co-ed Foods to Black Impact.

The school sponsored a formal sex education class, but attempted to stamp out the informal sessions in the corridor.

Time was not spent jitter-bugging to the Platters but boogying at concerts. Woodstock united the youth cult, Archie Bunker united the establishment, but My Lai horrified all. Four rock giants died and the Beatles resided at their own funeral. Nevertheless, the Stones kept on rolling, appearing in Boston for a sellout show.

Closer to home we paid a dime to hear our favorite song on the juke box while munching on snack-bar goodies. Regardless of Stillman, organic food and "Weight Watchers," the cafeteria was still in business. A headline screamed, "Buggy Cake at Wachusett!" and we had fruit cocktail for months.

Beyond the narrow confines of traditional academics, no abstract knowledge could have been more important than involvement with life, reaction with people or pursuit of interests. The many activities that offered membership spanned the interest scope of everyone.

During these restless years, much has been accomplished. The moon was manned, abortion legalized, and the voting and drinking age lowered to 18. However, the controversy over legalizing marijuana was still unsettled.

Smoking was permitted on school grounds during lunch and the new ten-minute break, resulting in the liberation of the bathrooms for their intended purposes.

Levis, halters, workshirts, waffle-stompers and hot-pants were IN.

Our pennies went to Biafran and Bangladesh refugees, as well as Managua earthquake victims.

Our athletic department has successfully transformed the "itty-bitty freshmen" into "mighty, mighty seniors." Boys and girls alike participate in all the various sports, making Wachusett a champion school and one that was noted as tough to beat. The efforts of the enthusiastic followers in combination with the energies of the athletes brought about frequent victories.

It was a disappointing year for the 1972-73 football team. However, our record of four wins, five losses did not indicate the true potential of the team. Captained by Kurt Anderson, Dennis Dickman, and Denis Hickey, the team showed their will to continue trying in the face of many hardships.

SOCCER

1973 was the first year that soccer was recognized as a varsity sport at Wachusett. It was a new experience for many and a surprising one for the teams which Wachusett would face. The newly acquired team was fortunate enough to get the ex-coach of Quabbin Regional High School, Charles Campbell of Rutland.

The soccer team had a testing first year schedule, facing a good many of the top teams in the Wachusett area. The team, along with its Most Valuable Player, Vaughn Collins, showed all the schools which they played, that Wachusett will be tough competition in a year or two.

The girls' field hockey team had a good season this year, with a record of 6-3-2. Each year the competition seems to get tougher and tougher. However, we tried our hardest and put everything we had into it. As we leave Wachusett, we shall never forget the fun, hard work, excitement, the glories of winning, and sadness of losing in this sport we all enjoyed.

HOCKEY

The 1972-73 Green Machine surprised everyone at the start of the season by being undefeated in the first three games. The small and inexperienced team was then suddenly shaken by injuries and sickness to key players, resulting in one discouraging loss after another. Shuffling around the lineup a few times settled down the players and got them back into winning form. Rallying late in the second half of the season to reach the post-season play-offs proved to have been in vain, for the District III committee decided not to invite our team to participate. Despite the way the season went, Wachusett boasted three outstanding players in the league. Captain Steve Granger, and goalie Dave White made the All-Star team with assistant captain Charlie Johnson receiving an honorable mention.

This fantastic team even travelled out of state for a victory in Vermont.

WINTER TRACK

This year's Winter Track squad competed under the leadership of veteran Coach Fred Warren and first-year assistant Jack Hayden. The team was determined not to be a losing club and proved it, finishing with a 6-win, 5-loss record, with the Class of '73 trackmen leading the way. They included shot-putters Steve Renaud and Dave French, Wachusett's second best ever; and high jumpers Jim Kerxhalli and Mark Hume, who was also a hurdler. Co-captains Jack Mullen and Jim Meagher led the squad's sprinters and in the longer runs Co-captain Chris Carlson was the leader as well as setting the school indoor 2 mile record at 9:51.

The 1972-73 Winter Track team will be remembered as the start of a new string of winning teams.

THE EDUCATORS

Most yearbook messages tell the graduating class that their teachers will be watching with interest to see how well the graduates accept their responsibilities in the community at large. This year it is fair to say that the entire state will be watching the Class of '73 or more precisely those who turn eighteen, to see how well they handle the new privileges/responsibilities legally placed upon them in the areas of voting and drinking. Many of us who have decried the inconsistency of asking a young man to give his life for his country on the one hand, but of refusing to serve him a drink on the other, earnestly hope that the young people will show themselves maturely responsible. You are moving into this area against a backdrop of the poor voting showing of last fall and the poor driving fatalities record of other states. Will you put your words into action?

Peace be with you. Keep in touch.

To Members of the Class of 1973

Your high school years began with man conquering space and stepping out on the moon; they encompassed a period of bitterness and discontent that raged around the conduct of the longest military action in our country's history; and they end amidst renewed hope that man can find lasting peace and brotherhood. These past four years have also been a time of youth — eighteen year olds received the right to vote and hold public office and young people by the thousands made their presence felt regarding issues of local, national and international importance. And in the midst of this you have labored in individual ways to complete this phase of your life's education, while at the same time you have laughed and fought and cried just like all of those who came before you. No one will deny that the great events of your time have helped to mold you nor that the education you received will play a major role in determining your futures. My fervent will for all of you is that you will take seriously the opportunities afforded you by the education you have received and by the land in which you live. I trust and hope that in the years ahead as you look back on this period of your life you will remember Wachusett with fondness and appreciation.

To the Members of the Class of 1973

As you graduate from Wachusett Regional High School, all our best wishes go with you. Whether you enter industry or the armed services, go on to institutions of higher learning or become a housewife, you should be better fitted for the future because of your years here.

Wachusett, from its inception, has been an outstanding school producing an outstanding product. Certainly, the Class of 1973 is no exception. Times have changed, teachers and students have changed, the curriculum has continually changed, but through it all the high standard of excellence has been maintained. You should be well equipped for success in the future. If there is anything in later years that we can do to assist you in attaining this success, be assured that we shall definitely be eager to help.

To one and all, may your years ahead be happy and profitable.

ARMINEH GHEVIAN, IRAN

An emissary of friendship
 Bringing us newness and smiles
 Showing us the world outside our small doors.
 Life, faith and joy —

 To broaden our horizons
 And teach us of ourselves and the world
 What can we give you but what you gave us?

the Sun will Shine through

Once on a rainy morning
I walked silently through a wooded glen the birds and animals sang to me softly

serenely undisturbing
the forest quiet

A gurgle-gurgle
played over the pebbles
of a swift-moving stream.

By the stream

the trees parted
to allow some grass

to form a cushioned seat
the arms of an old but majestic oak beckoned me rest.

Feet dangling happily lay down relaxed
no rain beat on my body
the oak was my shelter

my comfort.

I must have fallen asleep
for when I woke
the sun shone through

Peggy Horstmann

To Recognize

Warmth from the sun
In golden rays
Cold from the snow
On white days
Wet from the rain
In splashing drops
Waves from the river
In crashing stops
Leaves from the tree
In downward fall
Petals from the flower
In growth so tall

Blue from the sky
Reaching up high
Black from the night
Coming into sight
Grey from the Storm
Milling into view
Clear from the wetness
Of the morning dew
Purple from the violet
Sprouting in the grass
Green from the moss
Spreading in a mass

Sorrow from a sad affair
Making you feel down
Pain from a minor cut
Causing you to frown
Hatred from an enemy
Wasting time on you
Happiness from something small
Proving dreams come true
Fright from a restless sleep
Resulting in nightmare
Love from a little child
Kneeling in a prayer

Rochelle Hobbs

Leslie Clapp

I thought of today

A tear came to my eye.
I put it in a big box
Just for you
but,
Soon it was gone.

I found a violet flower.
I put it in a big box
Just for you
but,
Soon it had wilted.

I had a cloud.
I put it in a big box
Just for you
but,
Soon it had escaped.

I have Love for you
but, There's no box for it!
Will you take it
unwrapped?

Denis Hickey

morn

I am free with the wind
my face lifted to feel its coolness feet tingle at the touch of plush, velvet clover and bared arms toast in the soft sunlight.

Chirping birds announce the beginning of another day.

CAB

Flight

Wendy Korjeff

Forlorn they circled in the sky
Alone, together they flew
Silver, silken fuselage
Reflections of the whitecapped waves below.
Shadows on the gleaming sand
Suspended, soaring through the sky,
Soloing first then together ballet.
Joy screaming white against blue
Unrestrained freedom, beauty, life.
Boundless energy gracefully

insistently

straining forth.

Gillian Lloyd

Dennis Day

Toe, heel, flex, point, extend, contract, reach, bend, relax.
lights on, forming lines, correct your body line,
extend foot, drag toe and away
you go across the floor.

Sitting in your Abe Lincoln balcony seat,
eyes fixed on stage,
mind a blank,
you're the dancer.

Mary I. DiNoia

"The Motor V's Anti-Motto" of "Thous Shalt Not"

Forsooth!
The Wild Vermouth;
While Bourbon plays on Pixi's youth
Whatso is life but so uncouth —

Behold!
The Brave and Bold;
Who blithely float toward early old
Until they taste the smell of cold —

Come See!
Man's Agony;
As well can please the female bee
For He who pays the highest fee —

Alas!
The Underclass;
Who look below to fail but pass
In time mowed down like so much grass —

Cry out!
To You who Shout:
Your mortal terror of all doubt
You'll never find what life's about.

Coming back to Wachusett will be an experience. Things, people, and places will have changed, leaving nothing familiar for us to hide behind or hold onto. But high school is part of us and an experience that will remain with us long after we hear our last D-hall list and 2:30 bell.

"O Zarathustra," the animals said, "to those who think as we do, all things themselves are dancing: they come and offer their hand and laugh and flee — and come back. Everything goes, everything comes back; eternally rolls the wheel of being. Everything dies, everything blossoms again; eternally runs the year of being. Everything breaks, everything is joined anew; eternally the same house of being is built. Everything parts, everything greets every other thing again; eternally the ring of being remains faithful to itself. In every Now, being begins; round every Here rolls the sphere there. The center is everywhere. Bent is the path of eternity."
